THE BULLETIN:

BY EDWARD H. BRITTON.

EVENING NEWS.

FIRST EDITION.

Monday Afternoon, March 23, '63.

[TELEGRAPHED FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

From Vicksburg.

VICKSBURG, March 21.

The Hartford and Monongahela passed Warrenton about 6 o'clock. this evening, after cannonading half an hour, which was distinctly heard at this place. They are now anchored below at Smedes' Point.

Congressional.

RICHMOND, March 21.

The Senate was not session to-day.

The House passed Senate bill to increase the efficiency of heavy artillery for coast defence.

The House went into secret session on the Tax bill.

From Charleston.

CHARLESTON, March 22.

The enemy has been shelling the wreck of the Georgiana which still lies off Long Island beach. Otherwise all quiet.

Character of Napoleon III.

If his intellect was of a poorer quality than men supposed it to be at the time of the Anglo-French alliance, it was much above the low guage which people used to assign to it in the earlier period, which began in 1836 and ended at the close of 1851. That which had so long veiled his cleverness from the knowledge of mankind was the repulsive nature of the science at which he labored. Many men before him had suffered themselves to bring craft to politics. Many more, toiling in humbler trades, had applied their cunning and skill to the conflicts which engage courts of law; but no living man, perhaps, except Prince Louis Bonaparte, passed the hour of a studious youth and the prime of a thoughtful manhood in contriving how to apply stratagem to the science of jurisprudence. It was not, perhaps, from natural baseness that his mind took this bent. The inclination to sit and sit, planning for the attainment of some object of desire—this, indeed, was his nature, but the inclination to labor at the task of making law an engine of deceit, this did not come, perforce, with his blood. Yet it came with his parentage. * * * * * For years the Prince pursued his strange calling; and by the time his studies were over he had become highly skilled. Long before the moment had come for bringing his crooked science into use, he had learned how to frame a constitution which would seem to enact one thing and really enact another.

He knew how to put the word "jury" in laws which robbed men of their freedom. He could set the snare which he called "universal suffrage." He knew how to strangle a nation in the night time with the thing he called a "Plebiscite." * * It is believed that men do him wrong who speak of him as void of all ideas of truth He understood truth, and in conversation he habitually preferred it to falsehood, but his truthfulness though not perhaps contrived for such an end, sometimes became a means of deception, because, after generating confidence, it would suddenly break down under the pressure of a strong motive. He could maintain friendly relations with a man, and speak frankly and truthfully to him for seven years, and then suddenly deceive him.

Of course men finding themselves ensnared by what had appeared to be honesty in his character, were naturally inclined that every semblance of a good quality was a mask—but it is more consistent with the principles of human nature to believe that a truthfulness continuing seven years was a genuine remnant of virtue. than that it was a mere preparation for falsehood. His doubting and undecided nature was a help to concealment; for men get so wearied in following the oscillations of his mind, that their suspicions in time went to rest; and then, perhaps, when he saw that they were quite tired of predictating he would do a thing, he gently stole out and did it.—Kingslake.

A SOLEMN WARNING TO WIVES.—A correspondent of the Selma Reporter relates a story which should serve as a solemn warning to the wives of soldiers. He says a few weeks ago a soldier was tried and convicted of the crime of desertion, and sentenced to be shot. The day for the execution arrived and at the appointed hour this brave man, who had fought many battles and endured every kind of hardship, fell a bloody corpse at the hands of his comrades. Upon inquiry it was ascertained he was as true as steel to our cause, and that it was on account of his wife that he deserted. He received a letter from her full of complaints. Looking alone upon the dark side of the picture, she had magnified her troubles and sufferings and earnestly entreated her husband to return home. He became restless, discontented, unhappy. He ceased to take any interest in the discharge of his military duties, and thought only of how he could get home. His solemn oath never to desert troubled him much and he well knew the crime of desertion had become so frequent in the army it would be punished with death. In this state of perplexity he drew his wife's letter from his bosom and read it again, and shutting his eyes to the consequences, he deserted! and for his crime he suffered a bloody and ignominious death. His wife, now a widow, knows no peace of mind, but is constantly haunted with the thought that her exaggerated representations of her trials and sufferings caused her husbaand's death. Let this case be a lesson to all wives and mothers. When you write to the soldiers speak words of encouragement; cheer their hearts, fire their souls, and arouse their patriotism.—Say nothing that will embitter their thoughts, or swerve them from the path of patriotic duty.

THE YANKEES AT JACKSONVILLE.—We learn from Jacksonville that the Yankee black and white troops at that place keep very close to their quarters since their recent drubbing by General Finegan's boys. They very seldom show themselves in the outskirts of the town, and their pickets have been drawn close in. We understand that there are about fifteen hundred negro troops with white officers at the place. These "American citizens of African descent" were sent down from Port Royal, and report that others were soon to follow them. It has been ascertained by persons who resided in Jacksonville that in the recent fight the Yankees lelt fifteen negroes and one white officer dead on the field, but succeeded in carrying off their wounded. Very few of the citizens remain in the place, which is represented to have become a perfect negro den. Provisions are very scarce. The whites and negroes freely mingle, and the Yankee officers are extremely immoral and dissipated. At all hours of the day some of them may be seen reeling drunk in the streets. It is not probable that they will be allowed to remain in possession of Jacksonville very long—certainly they will not be permitted to penetrate the interior. —Savannah News.

THE MOVEMENT TOWARDS NEWBERN.—There was no attempt after all to take Newbern. Gen. Hill has retired with his troops. His object was, we suppose, to drive in the enemy and bring out supplies of corn and bacon. We learn that a goodly quantity of the "staff of life" was secured. It was much needed —Raleigh Standard.

☞ A letter from a gentleman in Lee's army thinks it wrong for any of the Southern papers to talk about peace. He says that "that is not the way to bring a cowardly foe to his senses, and the feeling in the army is adverse to anything that looks like timidity or a want of faith in the success of the cause."

☞ The Mobile Register says: The printers of the Confederacy have heard no news since the beginning of the war that gives them more satisfaction than that of the resignation of Gen. Sigel, Sigle, Siegel, Siegle, Seigel, Seigle, Seagull—or whatever his name may be. They are rid of him now, and why they are glad of it is easy to guess.

TO COTTON PLANTERS.

I HAVE BEEN APPOINTED BY THE SECRETARY of the Treasury, Chief Agent for the purchase of Cotton for the Confederate Government within the State of North Carolina, and will pay for the same in 7 per cent. Bonds or Cash.

Sub-Agents visiting the different parts of the State, buying in my name, will have written certificates of appointment.

By order of the "Secretary of the Treasury," all Cotton purchased by myself, or my Agents, on and after the 18th day of March, 1863, will be paid for in 7 per cent. Bonds or Cash, and not 8 per cent. Bonds as stated in a former advertisement. Up to that time, however, the 8 per cent. Bonds will be furnished as stated.

Patriotic citizens are now offered an opportunity to aid the Government by selling to it their Cotton rather than to private capitalists.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE STATE JOURNAL.

HAVING become the proprietor of the Democratic Press. I have merged that paper into the STATE JOURNAL, which will be published Semi-Weekly and Weekly.

The STATE JOURNAL will advocate Democratic principles in the broadest sense, and will support and defend Democratic measures and their advocates as they are presented, and as occasion may require. In other essentials it will be my aim to make the paper, what its name denotes, a State Journal—eschewing all sectional considerations and working for the entire State and her common interests.

As soon as arrangements can be made, the whole paper shall be re-modeled and printed with new type, on good paper, and in a superior manner.

The Editorial department will be properly attended to in its various branches, and will speak for itself. Neither labor nor expense will be spared in the management of the paper.

The terms of the State Journal will be as follows:

Semi-Weekly, per annum	$4 00
Weekly	2 00

These terms will be insisted upon invariably in advance. No name will be put upon the list without the money, and all papers will be discontinued at the expiration of the time for which they have been paid, unless the subscription be renewed I am satisfied, from years of experience, that upon no other footing can any newspaper hope to succeed.

Advertisements of a proper character will be inserted at the following rates:

One square, first insertion	$1 00
Each subsequent insertion	25 cents.

A liberal deduction on these rates for yearly advertisers in the Semi-Weekly. In the Weekly edition the full rates will be charged.

From Tennessee, &c.

A correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser writing from Tennessee, says that the "Federals on their foraging expeditions take away everything that they can carry, and then destroy the balance. They admit that they can never conquer us by force of arms, and have now determined, as a last resort, on the Satanic policy of spreading ruin in their pathway, and by devasting and wasting our fields and stores, bring us to terms of submission by means of starvation."

In Tennessee, the Federals frequently give us warm work in front of our picket lines, in their foraging expeditions, and lately their visits have been more frequent and bold than usual. Their forage trains are always attended by a large force of infantry, artillery and cavalry; but notwithstanding our great discrepancy in numbers, we often drive them back without their accomplishing their plundering purposes; and sometimes our dashes upon them have been so sudden and irresistable that, although largely superior to us in force, they have been compelled to cut loose their teams and leave their wagons to our undisputed possession.

Very recently a foraging party of the Federals, escorted by a command of cavalry, visited the premises of Mr. Anthony, in Williamson county. The Colonel, Major and other officers entered the house and indulged in the usual freedom and license. At the same time they encouraged a number of negro teamsters to commit the most infamous outrages upon the daughters of Mr. Anthony. Their mother besought the protection of the officers, but these brutal men only cursed her, saying that they understood that the husbands of her daughters were in the Confederate service, and they were being served properly thus to be outraged by a race they had enslaved. We have no comment to make upon this. It is a saddening, sickening picture of the condition to which society is reduced wherever the vandals of the North pollute our soil. But it is only the execution of the threat which Gen. Rosencrantz made three months ago when he assumed command of the army of the Cumberland. He then threatened to devastate the country with fire and sword, and his underlings are faithfully executing his barbarous order. God help every section of our struggling and bleeding country that may be subject to these worse than savages; and God grant that our mothers and daughters may soon be relieved from the contaminating presence of these demons in human shape.

Resignation of Col. C. Jones.

The 12th Regiment of South Carolina Volunteers was organized in August, 1861, by the election of R. G. M. Dunovant, of Edgefield, as Colonel; Dixon Barnes, of Lancaster, Lieutenant Colonel; Cad. Jones, of York, Major. Colonel Dunovant resigned a short time after, when the command devolved on Colonel Barnes, who was wounded in the battle of Sharpsburg, Maryland, from the effects of which he died shortly after. The Regiment was then commanded by Colonel Jones, with Captain McCorkle, of York, as Lieutenant Colonel, and Captain Miller, also of York, as Major. Lieutenant Colonel McCorkle resigned, owing to ill health, a short time since, and now we learn the resignation of Colonel Jones, from the same cause, leaving Major Miller, as senior officer, in command.—Southern Guardian.

FROM THE BAR.—Between eight and nine o'clock last evening very heavy firing was heard out at sea. Some twenty-five or thirty heavy guns were discharged. A telegraphic dispatch from Fort Sumter stated that the blockaders were firing off Maffit Channel, on what was supposed to be a vessel endeavoring to run in through the blockade. At a late hour last night we were informed that a steamer had run in, and anchored safely inside, which, no doubt, was the cause of the firing noticed above.—Charleston Courier of yesterday.

Yesterday morning early the steamer Calypso was at her wharf in Charleston, making four steamers which have arrived at that port from Nassau since Sunday last, with valuable cargoes of merchandise. Notwithstanding the blockade our sister city is at present in the enjoyment of a larger direct foreign trade than she ever had before. Four steamers in as many days looks like business.—Savannah News.

INCIDENT AT THE BATTLE OF MURFREESBORO'.—An esteemed friend has handed us the following letter relating an incident in this battle not yet published, which we cheerfully put in print: "During the fighting on Wednesday evening, our sharpshooters were compelled to fall back, when one Sergeant Murphy coming along the bank of Stone's river, accidentally came upon a Yankee Lieutenant Colonel and four men. Quick as thought, he brought his gun to his shoulder and demanded the surrender of the party. The Lieutenant Colonel here upon ordered his men to fire upon the rebel; but unfortunately for them, their guns had been discharged. The Colonel then drew his sabre, flashing it over his head said he would never surrender to a rebel, which words were no sooner said than the sharp crack of the rebel rifle caused the Yankee Colonel to lie lifeless at his feet. The Sergeant then drew his revolver and march the four men into camp. This man has been recommended to the War Department for promotion, to which he is well deserving.—Natchez Courier.

☞ The Herald says, editorially, that the object of the attack on Fort McAllister was not to take it, but to test the qualities of the iron clads engaged.

CHARLOTTE.

Monday Morning, March 23, '63.

A Printer Wanted.

A first class Printer (Compositor,) will find employment, permanently, on application at this office.

Later from Texas.

We have before us files of the Houston (Texas) News to the 11th ult.

The News publishes part of an extra from the Houston Telegraph in regard to Missouri affairs, which will be new to our readers. The Telegraph says that the Missouri militia, under Gen. Harney, have rebelled against the Lincoln authority, retained the arms put into their hands by the Abolitionists and seized upon every town of importance on the Missouri river, together with a vast amount of supplies, arms and ammunition. The writer says:

Upon the reception of this important news by Gen. Hindman, at Louisburg, he dispatched immediately Generals Marmaduke and Shelby, with 10,000 cavalry and infantry to their relief, until his main force could be brought up. It was also said that Gen. Hindman himself has gone into Missouri to confer with Harney and perfect their combinations. God grant it may all be true—or even one half of it.

Lo! the Poor Soldier.

"Upon the bloody battle-field
When drooped the setting sun,
When the foe was fleeing wildly
And the battle fought and won;
A young and gallant soldier
Lying there amidst the slain,
Poured out his young life's current,
On Virginia's classic plain.

* * * * * *

'I am dying, comrade, dying
Far from friends and home away;
Oh! then hearken, comrade, hearken
To the words I have to say:
I have a mother, comrade,
Would to God that she were near!
To bathe my burning temples
And to hear my dying prayer!

'But alone, alone I'm dying,
And my spirit soon will flee,
And that angel-hearted mother
I shall never, never see!
And my black-eyed darling sister,
Oh! she loved me, loved me so—
But the chill of death is on me,
I shall see her never more!

Such has been the glorious death of many a true son of the South, since the inauguration of the bloody Lincoln—the execrable wretch who riots amid the wails and sufferings of a bleeding people. We had hoped in the beginning, that there would have been found enough of human sympathy in the bosom of every one, to have softened and assuaged the sorrows and griefs of the mothers and wives and sisters at least, of the noble men who might fall in this terrible strife. But, in blushing shame for some of our species, our hearts have grown sick at the recital of some instances of brutal insensibility toward the relatives of the noble dead, and shameless indignity toward their poor dumb corpses.

A traveler informs us that an unfortunate grief-stricken mother or wife, who had gone to Virginia to recover the remains of her soldier-husband or son, after having exhausted, nearly, her little stock of funds in getting to a certain point in North Carolina, on her return, was refused further transportation for her sad charge, because of the reduced condition of her purse, she offering all she had! And that in almost every instance of shipping and re-shipping upon the trains, the poor friends of the dead are subjected to the most villianous impositions by the common hands belonging to the roads. We hope it is not so.

We trust it will not be our ungrateful duty to refer to this painful subject again; but if we are forced to, we shall take especial pains to be more particular, and to hold up to the indignation and loathing of outraged humanity, the guilty parties.

Read the lines we have quoted above, and if they don't move your heart in this connection, you are inhuman, and the d—l will some day roast you as a cook does a gobbler, and as he should do.

THE YANKEE PRISONERS.—Some twelve hundred of the blue bellies, captured by Van Dorn, reached Knoxville, Tennessee, on Saturday 14th instant, most of whom were sent on in the afternoon to Virginia. Another batch was expected next day.—Parties who visited them say that the Indianians mostly expressed themselves determined to fight no more for "the nigger," while the Wisconsin men were particularly fierce in their devotion to "the government." They were a pretty hard looking set generally, and complained greatly that Bragg had taken their overcoats from them. Our men who were captured in Kentucky, were stripped of overcoats, blankets, and everything but enough to barely hide their nakedness, besides being robbed of their money and starved on their route to Baltimore. If General Bragg deprived them of their overcoats, it was a mild retaliation.

"The Copperhead party" is the elegant appellation given by the Abolitionists to all opposed to the usurpation of Abe Lincoln. For instance, Clement L. Valandigham is stigmatised by Harper's Weekly as the chief of copperheads. The peace Democrats are caricatured under the semblance of copperhead snakes with human heads and Quaker hats, making an attack on a lank-looking female, innocent of crinoline, supposed to represent Columbia, who holds out a shield marked "Union." To show the animus of Harper, we shall extract a short paragraph from an editorial article headed "Copperheadism," as follows:

We shall not waste time in arguing with the copperheads. Men who are capable of justifying the rebels and espousing their cause when the blood of some member of almost every Northern family reddens Southern soil, and the bones of Northern soldiers are worn as ornaments by Southern women, are not likely to be convinced by argument, or to be previous to anything short of a bayonet thrust.

This is rich, especially the style of female ornaments prevalent at the South. And yet this stuff will have its believers, says the Wilmington Journal, although, of course, its writer is not to be classed among them.

Propositions for an Armistice—Fernando Wood.

Under this heading the "Herald" publishes the following:

To the Editor of the Evening Post:

At a meeting held at Stanford, Conn., on Tuesday evening last, I said that propositions for an armistice, or peace, had been submitted to the President on the 12th of December last, which, had they been accepted, would have terminated this war by the 1st of April, upon a basis satisfactory to the people, North and South. In referring to this statement you ask:

"Who made these propositions for an armistice or peace, the adoption of which Mr Wood pretends to believe 'would have settled the matter' by-all fool's day. If so, how does Mr. Wood know anything about them? Has he been in secret correspondence with the enemy? Or were they made by some of the anti-war men here? If so, who authorized them; and what are the terms of the propositions from which Mr Wood hopes so much? If they are honorable to the nation, if they are such as patriotic Americans ought to favor, why not make them public at once."

To which I say, in reply, that the statement referred to by me was made deliberately, with a full and personal knowledge of the facts, and that I am constrained from the publicity of them only by the request of one of the principal officers of the government. When this interdiction shall be withdrawn I will cheerfully gratify your curiosity.

Very respectfully,
FERNANDO WOOD.

March 11, 1863.

GALLANT FEAT—YANKEE CAPTORS CAPTURED.—We are indebted to members of General Wood's Staff for an account of a very gallant feat performed last week, by James B. Irvine, a member of a Coahoma Mississippi, Company, and Thomas Kirkman, a volunteer Aid of General Law, both of Florence Alabama, and a Tennesseean, named Harris. Coming up to Florence from Mississippi, they were captured by four Yankees, and placed in charge of two of them Irvine's horse was taken and he was put on a mule. Kirkman seized an opportunity to propose to Irvine to capture their guard, but he replied "not yet."

Afterwards, while passing through deep mud, Irvine offered the guard, riding by his side, a drink of liquor from his canteen. He accepted, and while dringing Irvine seized him with both hands and they tumbled into the mud together—Simultaneously, Irvine called to Kirkman "Now's your time," and K seized the the other guard. Harris rushed to Irvine's aid, but he, being stout and athletic, said, "I can manage my man; help Tom"—who is a much smaller man. Harris did so, and both Yankees were secured, with their horses, guns, revolvers and accoutrements, taken to Florence and lodged in jail. Hurrah for our Confederate heroes! Their deeds are romantic in their knightly gallantry.—Huntsville Confederate.

THE MERCEDITA.—The New York Herald announces the arrival at Philadelphia of the screw steamer Mercedita, and gives the following account of her condition:

The Mercedita requires repairs to her engine and hull caused by damages from collision with the ram Palmetto State, off Charleston. About thirty feet of her side will have to be taken out. At Port Royal she underwent such repairs as were necessary before bringing her North. Seven planks and too timbers were stove in by the ram's prow, making a hole five feet vertically and three feet horizontally.

A shell of one hundred pound weight passed through the ship, cutting one man in two, and by going through the steam chimney three men were scalded to death, three others badly scalded, and a number slightly. It passed out the port side, destroying six planks and two timbers, making a clear hole three feet by two and a half feet, and shattering the planks eight or nine feet further. It exploded as it went out.

RETALIATION AND HIGH PRICES.—It is said that, in retaliation for the order of Gen. Pemberton stopping supplies from being sent to Mobile by railroad through this State, Gen. Buckner has issued a similar order in regard to supplies from his department coming in this direction.—Hence we learn that flouradvacned in this city yesterday to $110 per barrel. Had not these military rulers of the people better make a treaty of amity and commerce, so that their subjects may be granted the privilege of buying provisions to keep themselves and the families of the men who are in arms in the field from starving? Probably if the people would meet in council (while yet they have the privilege,) and "humbly petition" their military excellencies, something might be accomplished.—Jackson Mississippian.

DIVARSION.—A son of Erin, working in an establishment in this city, hearing that a company was being raised for service at Charleston, for and during the attack, asked leave of his employers to enrol his name; which was not acceded to, as his labor was more important to the government at home than in the army. Erin did not so view it, and replied: "Here I've been working for twenty months, and its d—d hard I can't have a little divarsion.

John Broughman's "Tread light, for my heart is under your feet, love," is more than equaled by a lover who thus goes skating on his lady's heart:

And take me by the hand;
And lead thou loving saint, the way
To where the ice is thin,
That it may break beneath my feet,

PROSPECTUS
OF
THE CHARLESTON MERCURY
A POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL, AND LITERARY NEWSPAPER
PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY

THE MERCURY gives daily reports of the Market and Marine Intelligence in Charleston, and of Charleston commerce in the leading reports of the world. The Weekly Prices Current is made up with much care, and from the most reliable sources. Its connection with the "Associated Press" insures the latest intelligence by Telegraph and the earliest news by Steamers from Europe. It has an able and accomplished Correspondent in London (a gentleman connected with the editorial staff of the London Times,) and regular Correspondents in New York, Washington, Key West and Havana. The monthly New York Fashion Letters and weekly letters on life in Washington are additional attractions in favor of its lady readers. Its literary notices, from the pen of a gentleman who occupies perhaps the highest position among the literary men of the South, are discriminating and comprehensive.—Attention is paid to all matters of general concern, especially those in reference to the Planting and Agricultural interest, and to the current news of the day. Great care is taken that nothing shall appear in its columns which should be excluded from the family circle.

The political creed of the MERCURY consists in the principles of the Democratic Party, as laid down in the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798 and 1799—the Sovereignty of the States; a strict construction of the Federal Constitution by the General Government, the agent of the States; Free Trade, and an economical Administration of the Government. Its policy is the Union of the Southern States in maintaining their rights.
